DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 9-24 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The examiner concurs with the applicant's "second" argument (Page 11, Para. 2) submitted on 16 February 2006 such that the art of record fails to disclose or suggest the claimed combination and functional implications such that "responsive to receiving viewer input requesting display of the reminder list, displaying the reminder list, including displaying on a single screen a plurality of titles, including titles of the selected currently viewable video-on-demand presentation and the selected coming soon video-on-demand presentations and the list of coming soon video-on-demand presentations, and wherein the future release date of the coming soon video-on-demand presentation is displayable through viewer selection of the title of the coming soon video-on-demand presentation in the reminder list".

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Art Unit: 2614

- The Ellis et al. (US Pub No. 2004/0117831 A1) reference discloses a program guide which facilitates the particular display of currently available and coming-soon video-on-demand presentations and further explicitly incorporates by reference the McKissick et al. (US App No. 09/378,533) reference which discloses the ability to establish reminders for both available and coming-soon programming.
- The Goode (WO 00/60482 A1) reference discloses a video-on-demand scheduler and packager that includes the creation of a category of on-demand programming which will no longer be available.
